1 Wonderful large half plate daguerreotype of 13 California gold miners at their work site. The men are holding gold pans, shovels and other implements as they pose by a wooden long tom sluice. A rocker box is in the left foreground, with a Chinese coolie in pointed hat standing behind it. Man seated at front center has pan with gold tinted nuggets. Three of the mens shirts have blue tinting. The entire subject area is in generally fine condition, with some scattered very fine scratches seen only with a magnifier. There is however some significant wiping in the top center sky, showing as a dark horizontal area near the top edge. The catalog photo actually overemphasizes the intensity of the wipe - in person it is much lighter. Resealed probably 100 years ago. In full leather case. Actual size of dag is 4¼ X 5½, closed case 4¾ X 6. 19,500.

2 One of the best Clipper Ship trade cards I have ever had. Suttons Dispatch Line For San Francisco (from NYC), the ship HORNET, which had made six passages from 105 to 126 days. Full color scene of the famous War of 1812 naval battle between the earlier period Hornet and Peacock. The 1813 Hornet was commanded by legendary Captain James Lawrence, who was to achieve immortality three months later with his dying words "Don't give up the ship" during the battle of the Chesapeake and Shannon. Excellent condition - a marvelous rarity. 2,450.

3 Extremely rare 18th century creamware plate depicting a famous Revolutionary War cartoon. The city of "PHILADELPHIA" is at upper right, where two British officers (Richard & William Howe) are getting drunk by their beached ship. In the foreground the British cow is having its horns cut off by an American (dressed as an Indian) while being milked by a Dutchman, who shares the milk with the French and Spanish. An English merchant wrings his hands, while a dog urinates on the sleeping British lion. Originally printed in small 4 X 6 format in The Westminster Magazine, Feb 1778, and titled "A Picturesque View of the State of the Nation for Feb 1778", it was quickly circulated in larger size English, French and Dutch versions. While the paper prints are scarce in all versions, the image on ceramics is excessively rare. In the 28 years I have collected early American historical ceramics, I have seen only two examples, and I own them both. 10" diameter, excellent condition. 8,750.

4 Previously unseen 3¼ burlwood snuff box with inset glass plaque encasing civilian sulphide of George Washington. Background (underside) of glass with cut diamond checkered pattern. Sulphide bust is perfect, couple cracks in wood perimeter of lid. 3,500.

5 Unique 1930's Zippo cigarette lighter mounted in gold, with both front and back fully encased in four large slabs of gold quartz. Underside presentation engraved "His Majesty King George VI". He ruled from 1936-1952. Excellent condition except for slight looseness to the hinge. Even though the period is late, I have never heard of another royal presentation in gold quartz. 3,250.

6 Very rare 1865 dated carte de visite "Hero - The Blood Hound - From Castle Thunder". Reverse imprint tells story of this immense seven foot 204 pound dog from Richmond VA, used to guard Union prisoners at Castle Thunder, later brought to Boston. Story of slave holders tracking runaways - "woe to the unfortunate Negro". Published by E L Allen, Boston, excellent. 1,250.

7 Battersea enamel curtain tieback 2" diameter, portrait "Genl Washington" in uniform, excellent. 2,750.

8 Exceptional 9½ Liverpool creamware pitcher with all transfers in full color. Standing portrait Colonel Banastre Tarleton, commander of the British Legion in South Carolina. The tyrannical Tarleton would likely have been executed for war crimes in the 20th century, but he was feared and renowned as a cavalry commander until his disastrous defeat at Cowpens. He was the model for Mel Gibson's antagonist in the movie The Patriot, but rather than being killed as in the movie, in fact he lived another 50 years in England. Other side of jug with very rare scene of rope makers. Under spout is owners monogram and the date 1793, with inscription "Success to the Rope Makers... Glorious 10th of March..." Appearance is superb, but there is some excellent invisible restoration to the spout. I have collected early ceramics for 28 years, and this is only the second example I have seen of this Tarleton transfer. 6,750.

9 The best Custer photo I have had. Superb large albumen print 5½ X 7¾ (image) on card mount in beautiful gilt, ebonized and walnut deep frame (not shown). Overall 12 X 14. The image (Katz 122) shows Custers quarters at Fort Abraham Lincoln, North Dakota, taken by Goff in November 1873. Included are Custer, his wife, brother Tom and a number of officers who would die three years later at the Little Big Horn. Pristine condition. 6,500.

10 Incredible 16 X 17½ heavy cut out iron house or mailbox sign for the Lynch family, presumably from the deep south, circa 1910's - 1930's. Painted black, excellent condition. 1,250.

11 Outstanding oil on canvas - John C Calhoun, 20 x 27 in gilt frame 25 X 32. Flag and globe to left, documents on table titled "Strict Construction", "Free Trade" and "The Sovereignty of the States". A couple of small minor scratches on wall at upper left, light scratch on table cloth. Otherwise the appearance is pristine, but some scattered restoration can be seen with a blacklight - it's very well done and invisible to the eye. Relined on original stretcher. A few small losses to raised gesso on frame. 9,250.

12 Outstanding 8 X 9½ handpainted porcelain plaque, similar to the well known KPM plaques but not marked. Exquisite portraits Colonel Istvan Turr and Garibaldi, wearing the famous red shirts of Garibaldi's legion. Names printed below on grass. Turr was Garibaldi's right hand man, and a division commander in the Sicilian campaigns. He was one of a number of Hungarian officers recruited into Garibaldi's army. Pristine condition, a spectacular piece of porcelain! 1,250.

13 Unique 5" carved bone eagle, three dimensional with flat back. Shield on breast "Palo Alto - Buena Vista - Vera Cruz - Chapultepec - Chrubusco - Cerro Gordo". Excellent. 1,750.

14 (shadow on photo) Superb large Civil War recruiting broadside 3rd Mass Cavalry, 28 X 42 custom framed under plexiglass to 35 X 48. Fine plus, scattered minor wrinkles, bit of minor chipping at edges. The yellow paper has turned white in a few scattered spots, mainly near right edge, but this is of little importance. Great scene of cavalrymen with swords. 4,250.

15 Very rare George Washington memorial silk apron, probably used in funeral procession by a member of the hatters trade guild, most likely in Philadelphia. 18 X 24 with large printed portrait GW, Born... 1732, Died... 1799. At top is 4" applied silk hat. Apron edged in silk fringe of robins egg blue. The silk body of the apron is in amazingly fine condition, with no splits or other damage. About 25% of the blue fringe is gone, and there is some separation and fraying to the hat. I owned an identical apron perhaps 20 years ago, but that one did not have the blue border. A marvelous item. 3,750.

16 I've had this on a wall for several years and had forgotten about it until Fred Reed called and asked if he could use it for the cover of PAPER MONEY magazine, the official journal of the Society of Paper Money Collectors.

Fine oil painting on canvas circa 1830's - 40's depicting a prosperous New England manufacturer sitting at his desk signing a stack of uncut sheets of bank notes. His factory is seen out the window, a five story building, most likely a textile mill. The sheets show one and two dollar denominations, but the details don't allow for identification. Size 29 X 36, relined on later canvas, overall excellent condition. A very rare (possibly unique) subject. The image fills the entire front cover of the March/April 2008 issue of Paper Money. Copy of magazine included. 8,500.

17 Previously unseen large 25 X 29 silk bandana, black equestrian portrait on white background inside wide red border. Titled "Capt Nath Lyon USA". As Capt of 2nd US Infantry Lyon was responsible for capturing the rebel forces under General D M Frost and saving the St Louis arsenal from falling into Confederate hands. A few days later he was appointed Brigadier General, only to be killed three months later at Wilson's Creek. Near mint, early 1861, a superb rarity. 2,500.

19 Lg original drawing in crayon & pencil "Sketched at Yankee Florida Training Camp - Harry J Craden". Ruth & Gehrig holding bats, flanking the diminutive Miller Huggins. Mint condition in 27 X 34 custom frame. Late 1920's (Huggins died in 1929) 3,250.

19-A I don't sell decoys, but this piece was irresistable. Large 16 X 20 card mounted photo showing extensive 5 tier display of decoys "Decoy Makers Contest and Exhibition - American Waterfowl Decoys - Exhibit of Charles E Wheeler, Stratford Conn". Inscribed in ink on mount "To 'Whittler' Ed From 'Whittler' Shang". One of the greatest American carvers, Shang Wheeler is a legend among decoy collectors. 1,750.

19-B Rare high relief Berlin Iron plaque depicting Cornwallis surrendering to Washington. Baker J-454, illustrated in Medallic Portraits of Washington (Rulau/Fuld) pg. 199. Circa 1820, size 3 X 5¼. Small chip top edge, otherwise superb AU. 750.

19-C An outstanding slavery item. Great gilt lined maple frame 8 X 10 with portrait made of cork. "J Anderson The Fugitive Slave". Reverse gives his history. In 1853 he killed Septimus Digges, a Mississippi planter who was attempting to arrest him. He escaped to Canada. The American government claimed him & at first the Canadian courts agreed. He was later released on technical grounds. Terrific detail & workmanship. 2,500.

HERO, THE BLOOD HOUND!

Late of Castle Thunder, Richmond, Va., was imported from Russia in 1859, by a Southern gentleman, for sports of the arena, such as bull and bear fighting. Upon the breaking out of the rebellion, Hero was selected by the keeper of Castle Thunder as a fit subject for the contemptible duty of guarding Union prisoners, and many of our unfortunate soldiers can testify how well he performed the duty assigned him. He is of a very ferocious disposition, never making friends with any one, not even with his keeper. He takes his food with a sullen look, and as soon as fed, turns away with a growl. To domesticate him is impossible. His proportions are enormous, measuring seven feet from tip to tip, and upon his arrival he weighed 204 lbs. At all times, his keeper is obliged to keep him double chained and muzzled.

As to his identity, there can be no doubt. He was purchased in Richmond, after its evacuation, by SIDNEY MEMM, Esq., who, after his arrival in Boston, and while on exhibition at Bumstead Hall, disposed of Hero and his mate to Mr. GEORGE K. GOODWIN for the sum of $1,800. We are told by those informed, that every slave-holder that keeps his pack of hounds, in order to perfect them for the chase of the Negro, takes each slave before his pack and draws blood from each slave's arm, and gives to every hound, that they may at once become familiar with his scent, and at the same time, become more perfected in the hunt. In case one or more escapes at a time, the owner takes to the pack some article worn by the Negroes before they left, which the hound scents. He is immediately placed upon the track, and one he to the unfortunate Negro!
